Registration Password:

Dear L OULD:

As part of UL's commitment to continuously improve our service offerings, we announced in September a major change in pricing of UL Standards for Safety for our certification customers. Beginning Jan. 1, 2007, UL certification customers will have access to UL Standards materials at no charge. Through a new Web site created exclusively for our customers, you can:

- View UL Standards materials online in HTML format
- Download and print UL Standards materials in Adobe® PDF format
- Add other UL Standards users within your company
- Set up a customized Standards library to receive email notification of all updates, including revisions and proposals, to Standards in your library

Registering for access

To begin the registration process, please go to www.ulstandards.com/registration. Once at the Web site, please enter the 9-digit registration ID number and temporary password noted above. For security purposes, you will be asked to create your own user name and password. If you experience any difficulty during the registration process, please contact UL Standards customer service at clientservices@comm-2000.com.

Thank you for your interest in UL Standards for Safety.

Sincerely,

Robert A. Williams
Vice President – Standards
Underwriters Laboratories Inc.

If you are not the UL certification or UL Standards contact within your organization, please forward to the appropriate individual.
